

CONTENTS

| | |
|--|-----|
| Introduction (Wiesław Banyś) | 7 |
| Salah MEJRI: Presentation. A discussion of fixed expressions and the three primary functions (predicates, arguments, actualizers) | 9 |
| Aude GREZKA: The database Fixity | 15 |
| Dhouha LAJMI: Complex support verb: frozen actualisateur of non-verbal predicate | 29 |
| Alicja HAJOK: Complex determination in Polish-French contrastive studies | 41 |
| Monia BOUALI: Three primary functions and metaphoric transfer on the example of à Poss apogée , à Poss zénith construction | 55 |
| Lassâad OUESLATI: Idiomatic adverbial phrases: a study of the primary functions | 66 |
| Luis MENESES: The polysemy and the synonymy network of multi-lexical predicates | 84 |
| Asma MEJRI: The degree of fixity of conjunctive phrases in complex sentences: the case of assumption and condition | 100 |
| Marco FASCIOLO: Frozen inferences | 114 |
| Lichao ZHU: Lexical creation and textual creativity | 125 |
| Anna CZEKAJ: Metonymy in automatic translation | 136 |
| Michał HRABIA: Disambiguation of the meanings of the adjectival predicate farouche according to the object-oriented approach | 150 |
| Anna KUNCY-ZAJĄC: The notion of moto in the conceptualization of the states of sogno , meditazione and ipnosi in Italian | 168 |
| Katarzyna KWAPISZ-OSADNIK: A cognitive approach to expressing values | 191 |
| Ewa MICZKA: Models of global information structures in discourse | 201 |
| Agnieszka PASTUCHA-BLIN: The human body in popular culture | 213 |
| Claudio SALMERI: Two or three types of conditional sentences? Reflections on the Italian ‘periodo ipotetico’ | 224 |
| Daniel ŚLAPEK: A cognitive model for text analysis and translation | 234 |
| Aleksandra ŻŁOBIŃSKA-NOWAK: Validity of the object modeling in language and translation | 248 |
| Ewa MICZKA: Relations between experiential frames in discourse — the case of fait divers | 259 |
| Michał HRABIA: Semantic-based grammar: a theory ‘built’ and not ‘given’. A few remarks on the change in the understanding of some basic concepts in Stanisław Karolak’s theory | 273 |