

Table of contents

Piotr SKUBAŁA: How to educate in times of climate and environmental crisis?

LITERARY AND CULTURAL EDUCATION

Anna GUZY, Magdalena OCHWAT: Is it possible to shape pro-climate attitudes in Polish language lessons? Survey results

Zuzana OBERTOVIÁ: Climate fiction in academic research and the teaching of literature in university courses

Magdalena PIOTROWSKA-GROT: Literary backwoods – on ecopoetics and active reading

Małgorzata GAJAK-TOCZEK: Fostering pro-ecological attitudes during classes with Polish philology students

Magdalena PAPROTNY-LECH: Cybernetics and ecology: Loops of relations between Schulz and Onak

Barbara STELINGOWSKA: About the life of plants in Patyki i badyle by Urszula Zajązkowska

Kordian BAKUŁA: On cognitive and ethical blindness, and on natural secular humanities on the basis of Adolf Dygasiński's short story "Świat i ślepa dziewczyna" ["The World and a Blind Girl"]

Katarzyna KRULICKA: I'm thinking green – the ideas for ecoPolish lessons

Justyna Hanna BUDZIK, Urszula SZELAĞ: Green film education: a double case study

LANGUAGE EDUCATION

Eliška KRÁLOVÁ: The role of prefixoids originating in the classical languages in the process of enriching (not only) vocabulary of the Czech language (based on bio- and eko- components)

Stanislav ŠTĚPÁNÍK: Manipulation as an non-ecological expression

Alina MITEK-DZIEMBA: Environmental education in foreign language learning? Examination of the contents of EFL books in the light of ecocritical theory and its assumptions

Ewa PÓŁTORAK: Developing pro-ecological attitudes in secondary-school foreign-language lessons (on the example of materials for teaching French as a second / subsequent foreign language)

Anita RAČÁKOVÁ: Ecological topics in the Slovak State Educational Program for primary schools (second educational level)

VARIA

On the past Szopienice lead poisoning epidemic in relation to the contemporary problem of environmental pollution in Upper Silesia: Doctor Jolanta Wadowska-Król in conversation with Aleksandra Lange

Sandra KASZUBOWSKA: The ballast of the past: Around student suggestions

Marta NOWAK: Negative transfer in teaching Slovenes Polish as a foreign language: problems and solutions