

Table of Contents

From the Editors (Justyna Tymieniecka-Suchanek)

Invertebrates in the Humanities: An Introduction (Magdalena Kozhevnikova)

Articles

HISTORY

ANDRZEJ TADEUSZ STANISZEWSKI: A Caring Steward, Bee Work, and Order as a Process in Jakub Kazimierz Haur's General Gentry Economy (1675)

JULIA CZAPLA: Insects as Seen by the Natural Historian and by the Artist: Entomological Illustrations in Anselmus de Boodt's Albums

LITERATURE AND ART

ADRIAN TROJAK: Locating the Animal in Emily Dickinson's Poem "I heard a Fly buzz - when I died -"

DOROTA KARWACKA-PASTOR: Dangerous, Clever and Vindictive. The Anthropomorphism of Invertebrates in the Prose of Dino Buzzati

ADRIANNA CHORAŻY: Shared Micro-worlds. Literary and Artistic Depictions of Insects

ANNA ZALEWSKA: Not Only Fireflies and Butterflies: Lice, Ants and Other Insects in the Works of Tachibana Akemi (1812–1868) Within the Context of Classical Japanese Waka Poetry

XUEPING QU, YUTING MU: Multidimensional Interpretation of "Butterflies" in Traditional Chinese Culture

MATEUSZ KUCAB: Body and the Poetics of Self-Restraint. Contact with Jellyfish in the Poems of Marianne Moore and Maria Pawlikowska-Jasnorzewska

EWA MAZURKIEWICZ: "Let it parade [...]. Let it fly [...]. Let it be [...]." Bees and Other Insects in Poetry and Prose by Małgorzata Lebda

CULTURAL ANTHROPOLOGY

MAGDALENA KOZHEVNIKOVA: Bivalves as Bioindicators: Work, Cooperation or Exploitation? Anthropological Case Study

JULIUSZ GALIŃSKI: Rebellion Behind Glass Walls: The Potential for Queer Resistance in Pet Invertebrates

BIOLOGY / LAW / ETHICS

ZUZANNA GĄDZIK: Protection of Invertebrates in Criminal Law

MARCIN URBANIAK: The Experience of Pain in Decapod Crustaceans from a Neurobehavioral Perspective: A Challenge for the Invertebrate Welfare Theory

BARBARA PIETRZAK: How Invertebrate Personalities Unfold

Commentaries

TONI SIMS, JEFF SEBO: Ethical Oversight for Insect Research

Interviews

PETER GODFREY-SMITH, MAGDALENA KOZHEVNIKOVA: "What It's Like to Be an Octopus": An Interview with Peter Godfrey-Smith